This minor is offered jointly with the College of Education and Human Development (<http://catalog.gmu.edu/colleges-schools/education-human-development/>) (School of Recreation, Health, and Tourism (<http://catalog.gmu.edu/colleges-schools/education-human-development/school-sport-recreation-tourism-management/>)). This minor, available to all Mason undergraduate students, offers the opportunity to study special event management and event technologies, design and production for installations and special events. Students will gain insights into industry standards and practices regarding planning, managing, and executing live events and presentations. The required courses in this minor provide students with a foundational overview of management and production. Students can complement that knowledge with specific electives that meet their individual interests in events and areas of design and technology.
